Exercise Caution at Famous Fests

Spring is here. And in Germany, with springtime comes the famous Frühlingsfest. But before you head out, the 6th Area Support Group Force Protection Branch would like to advise all members of the community to follow a few simple rules:

Keep a low profile. Your dress, conduct and mannerisms should not attract attention;

Make an effort to blend in with the local environment;

Be unpredictable. Vary your route to and from the fest site;

Let people close to you know where you are going, what you will be doing, and when you should be back;

Be very alert. Watch out for anything suspicious or out of place. If you observe any suspicious people, vehicles or packages, report them to the Military Police;

Don't give out personal information over the telephone; and,

Pay attention to the travel/threat advisories issued by the 6th ASG Security Office. Call 0711-729-2844 with any questions or concerns.

Attention Shuttle Bus Users

In an effort to provide a service that best meets the needs of the community (within available resources), the 6th ASG Director of Logistics is recruiting a Customer-Provider Team to determine what that service will be beginning June 1. Ten community representatives are being sought to vote on, and establish, a new shuttle bus schedule. If interested contact Ed Furnish at 0711-729-1340 (office), 0039-03484455817 (cellular) or via e-mail (furnishc@6asg.army.mil). The first team meeting is set for April 26.

Aid Our Own with Relief Program

The Army Emergency Relief Program, a program that aids Army personnel, their families and retirees in need, has officially started in U.S. Army, Europe and runs through May 8. Give to a great cause by helping the Army to take care of its own. Donate to the campaign today. To find out how call 1Lt. Anna Maria Ford, 0711-680-8276.

Recall of ICON Exercise Gliders

In cooperation with the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, ICON Health & Fitness Inc., of Logan, Utah, is recalling about 75,000 Weider Shape Glider, Weider Power Glide and Weslo Shape Trainer exercise machines. An arm supporting the seat on these exercise gliders can disconnect during use, causing the user to fall abruptly. All of these gliders have a foldaway design. Consumers should stop using these exercise gliders immediately and call 800-999-3756. For product specifics, serial numbers, or to contact an ICON representative, go to the customer service page of their Web site, www.weiderfitness.com. Consumers can also obtain details at CPSC's Web site, <http://www.cpsc.gov>.

Apply to be a White House Fellow

The President's Commission on White House Fellows annually selects exceptionally promising individuals from all sectors of American life to serve as White House fellows. In this prestigious position, fellows often work with senior White House officials, cabinet secretaries or other deputies in Washington, D.C.

Interested applicants must request permission to compete prior to Dec. 1. Final selection is scheduled for June 2000. For eligibility requirements or more information e-mail Joel Strout, (stroutj@hoffman.army.mil).

Open Season for Life Insurance

There will be an Open Season for a revised Federal Employee's Group Life Insurance Program April 24 through June 30. The Stuttgart Civilian Personnel Assistance Center should receive the Open Season reference material by early May. Distribution of information will be sent out through administrative points of contact during May. For more information call 0711-729-2806.
